

BISTECCA

RESTAURANT - BAR - WINE ROOM

The world of wine is rich and complex,

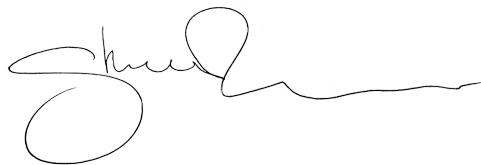

Constantly growing, ever-changing, the conversation of wine is never finished. It is a beverage of celebration, fascination and intricate history. It is also something of person and place. Not only the diverse, unique terroir these grapes are grown but the special humans that create this coveted drink. So, our list is based around just that, the people and place behind the wine...

Wine is of the earth. Not unlike us, it carries stories, scars and personality. This is why we focus highly on organic, biodynamic and low intervention winemaking. Working side by side with the environment is not only beneficial for the world but gives the wine true ambiente. Additionally, I'd like to emphasize the immense force of women in wine. In a male-dominated industry, these women have fought against odds with fierce passion and great devotion. If you see a '♀' next to a listing, it indicates that behind that wine is a great woman.

Wine has an innate ability to catapult us into a different country, feeling or world. And while we are committed to taking you on a vinous journey we must first look at where we sit. With this in mind, we at Bistecca acknowledge the Gadigal people, the Traditional Custodians of the land on which we have gathered. We pay respects to their Elders past, present and emerging.

At Bistecca, we'd like to welcome you into the aura of Florence, Italy. To dine upon no other than bistecca alla Fiorentina. What better to pair with this succulent cut than the two noble grapes, Nebbiolo and Sangiovese? In my opinion they are the top. Not only due to their spectacular quality and many expressions but because I believe they are most suited to accompany the bistecca. While the noble grapes definitely reign here, alongside them you will find an entire world of Italian wine. Plus, a sprinkling of Italian grapes grown locally here in Australia. Italy is a maze of thousands of varieties, soils and a range to cover every style of wine imaginable. So, please! Don't be afraid, get curious, ask questions, mispronounce names...and dare to try something totally new.

At the end of the day, wine is a delicious experience, something to be shared alongside an incredible meal. Whether you have visited Italy or not, we invite you to dive in and travel through your wine glass.

Nebbiolo in purezza from Piemonte

One of the world's great grape varieties, Nebbiolo is elegant, complex and beguiling. No other grape offers as pure an expression of place, with tiny variations in soil and climate capable of producing vastly different wines. Although all of these wines are different in their own way, they have a few characteristics in common - elegance, acidity, fine aromas and drying tannins.

Piemonte is home to a huge variety of soils and microclimates, where Nebbiolo's uniquely expressive character finds infinite ways to shine.

Barbaresco

...the Queen! Nebbiolo from this region is usually pretty and aromatic, with fine tannins and great length. Approachable at a young age, yet capable of maturing into greatness.

Barolo

... the King! One of the longest-lived wines in the world. From elegant to profound, there are few wines that can match the complexity and length of a great Barolo. Even though more modern styles of Barolo can be drunk upon release, these wines get better and better with age. The combination of acidity, tannins and time in oak allows these wines to evolve and shine.

The most velvety-structured Barolos, more approachable in youth, yet still capable of great age. The balance and elegance in these wines is without equal.

Sangiovese from Toscana

Tuscany's most famous contribution to the world of wine is Sangiovese, and in my opinion it is the perfect companion to the bistecca alla Fiorentina. The combination of acidity and tannin in these wines offers a perfect counterpoint to the richness of the bistecca, without overshadowing what should be, after all, the main event!

Sangiovese is grown throughout Toscana, often known by local names, and sometimes blended with other grapes. These wines vary from light and aromatic to more savoury and earthy.

Chianti Classico

This hilly region, between Florence and Siena, is the original home of Sangiovese. Small variations in soil and conditions can produce very different wines, but they all exhibit elegance and length.

Brunello di Montalcino

Further south, the hill of Montalcino is the home of Brunello - the traditional name of Sangiovese in this area. Only the best grapes are made into Brunello di Montalcino, which must be aged for 5 years before release.

Traditionally these wines were built for long ageing, with most requiring a minimum of 20 years before coming into their own. More recently, modern winemaking techniques have begun to take hold in Montalcino, and nowadays plenty of Brunelli can be enjoyed upon release.

Brunello is a powerful expression of Sangiovese, rich in its youth and with great elegance after a few years in the bottle. Layered and complex, it is a wine to savour.

Super Tuscans - The Rebels

Why 'Rebels'? By the end of the 1960s, a few winemakers in Toscana felt a bit too restricted by Italian wine law, which dictated quite strictly how to make wine, which grapes to use and in what percentages. Some wineries decided to follow their own rules, choosing which grapes to grow and how to blend them. As these wines didn't meet local regulations, they had to be labelled as 'Table Wine' - the lowest indication of quality at the time. However, they were soon recognised as wines of great quality, and now are perhaps the most sought-after wines that Italy produces.

There is great variety in the following wines, ranging from elegant and earthy to fleshy and rich. International varieties are common, often blended with local grapes, to produce something uniquely Tuscan.
