

BISTECCA

RESTAURANT - BAR - WINE ROOM

Tuscany is the home of bistecca alla Fiorentina, globally called a T-bone steak and considered one of the finest cuts of beef available.

Traditionally the steak is sourced from the local cattle called Chianina, cut three fingers thick and cooked over a charcoal fire.

Our beef is sourced from Riverina, a region spanning across southern New South Wales from the foothills of the Snowy Mountains to the flat, dry plains of the inland.

We cook our steak to the weight you choose, over a combination of ironbark and charcoal, served medium-rare.
